Blanket certificate

- This form may be used to make tax exempt purchases of computer system hardware used directly and predominantly in designing and developing computer software for sale.
- The exemption is also allowed for embedded software that comes as part of computer system hardware. The exemption does not apply to other software, including operating system software and application software.
- The exemption is also not allowed for the purchase of consumable supplies, service charges, or tools used in the operation, maintenance, or repair of computer system hardware.
- See instructions on back for additional information.

The computer system hardware I am purchasing is exempt from state and local sales and use taxes because the hardware will be used directly and predominantly in designing and developing computer software for sale.

If this is a blanket certificate and I make a purchase in the future that does not qualify for the exemption, I will pay tax to the seller at the time of purchase.

Substantial penalties will result from misuse of this certificate (see back of this form).
